

Anthology – Historical Inventory

Status Report

The Historical Inventory Status Report tool in Anthology is a great tool for stores to see the value of their inventory at the end of the day on a particular day. This differs from the Inventory Status Report in the fact that the Historical Report is a date in the past while the regular Inventory Status tells you where your inventory is at that moment.

To run a Historical Inventory Status Report, you'll go up to reports | Historical Inventory Status. From here you'll set the parameters for your report. For this example, we are going to run one for a day in October and limit it only to books.

If you only want to pull up on hand items, you'll need to check the on hand box and set it to  $> 0$ . The totals at the end only refer to anything on hand that day.

To only view totals, you will want to select Summary under Detail/Summary

The condensed form will fit all the columns to the page, so make sure to check that box.
